

Brenda Joy Darago

December 17, 1958 - December 16, 2017

Brenda Joy Darago, 58 of Pomfret, Maryland, died December 16, 2017 at her residence.

Brenda was a secretary for the Architect of the Capitol in Washington, DC. She had been a sales representative for Trinity Memorial Gardens and had also been a secretary for Jowett Construction Company but she most enjoyed being at home with her kids and grandkids.

She was the daughter of William Joseph Wyatt and Betty Jean Imel Wyatt. In addition to her parents, she was predeceased by her son, James Lee Darago; her brother, Robert Joseph Wyatt; and her sister, Bonnie Jean Wyatt.

She is survived by her step-mother, Aloisia Wyatt; her husband of 37 years, Daniel L. Darago; her daughter, Heather Jean Darago (Mark); her brother, William Ray Wyatt; her grandchildren, Haley, Mark, Alyssa, Karley, James, Emma, and Arabella; her daughter-in-law, Erica Olivera; and her brother-in-law, Robert McCollough.

Friends received on Friday, December 22, 2017 from 2PM until time of Memorial Service at 3PM at Forest Park Baptist Church, 12995 Church Road, Waldorf, Maryland 20601.

Memorials in Brenda's name are asked to assist her family with funeral expenses (payable to Raymond Funeral Service and add RS4678 in Memo section on your check).

“ Farewell Brenda. From the giddy super jealous teen girl we met so many years ago life threw challenges to you as you followed the path. Sometimes rocky but always steady and prideful in the love you had as a Mom and Grandma. I hope you are smiling again as you kiss and hug James and look down at your beautiful strong daughter and watch your grandchildren grow into healthy happy adults. We often spoke of different stages and happenings in our lives and as I remember those times, I think of not just a sister-in-law but someone I could share happiness and sorrow with. You got it. You will be missed .
