“ Brian was our half-brother and we our proud of that. He was 10 years younger than us but we can remember how he was always happy go lucky. We remember when you would come over on weekends, you would be playing around with our two brothers who were around the same age as you. You all would either be wrestling one another or playing Nintendo games. You would also make time to play around with us. We thought you were the coolest kid.

As we got older, we stayed in touch and we even face book some of your friends now.

We love how funny you were and always laughing and we strive to enjoy our lives as you enjoyed yours.

*Missing you,
Karen and Nikki*

“ Even though I always referred to you as my stepson you were always a son to me. I was by your side for this journey we call life. I saw you at your highest and lowest times but one thing that never changed was your love for your family and your friends. I have too many memories to list but I cherish the times we bragged about the Cowboys playing the Redskins, going for a walk during the worst of a snow storm and your mom thinking we were crazy. I always enjoyed playing pool with you and Chili Man and your friends. Even though we butted heads a lot of times, when we found out your cancer diagnosis, we hugged and cried and told each other that we love each other. From that day, I never saw Brian shed another tear. He made peace with Jesus Christ, and he was so very thankful for his life! He loved nothing more than being with his son Brian Jr who is his greatest joy. His favorite word in his life was Lamont, his best friend. Every other sentence out of his mouth was I'm going over Lamont's. He always loved having Bernie to come over and cut his hair. Brian didn't always have the most money or most possessions but he had an abundance of friends who love him, which speaks to who he was. You were blessed with the most loving mother anyone could ask for. God Bless you Brian, we will miss you.
Love Dominic

“ I remember when Brian was a little boy one Halloween Brian's mom and I, his aunt, dressed him up as a girl and put a wig and makeup on him. He was so silly, always a happy kid and full of playful mischief. He kept that playfulness his whole life. He was just a big kid with a heart of gold. You will be missed by so many Brian. You may not be here physically but you will always be in our hearts. Until we are together again, I love you.

“ I will never forget, back in the day, Brian getting in anyone's car, and playing the bongos (really a car dashboard) to any go go music on the radio. The skating rink days, and all the skate dances. We definitely had some good times! RIP friend, and until we meet again....❤️

“ Remember playing football in the medium strip on 23rd parkway Chestnut Hills, taking him to the golf range and him loving to hit golf balls. His favorite wrestler was Chief Jay StrongBo. Had lots of fun.

“ I can remember when we all use to meet at the skating ring when we were in our teens. When they would have the skate dance, we would take off our skates and dance on the skate floor. Brian could dance dance dance and we would have a ball. So much fun to be around. When the carnivals would come to town, we make it our mission to get to it so we could walk around and just have good teenage fun. I'm so glad I got to see Brian these past 2 weeks. It brought back so many memories. I asked Brian how did we meet at the skating ring and he quickly reminded me that he was sitting on the bench and I came and sat beside him with my friends and started singing to him. He told me I started singing to him this old Stacy Lattisaw song "Let me be your Angel". I couldn't believe he remembered that and then I remembered. Now, Brian is an Angel free from all this pain and hurt that this world sometimes throw at us. Brian is an Angel watching over his wonderful, loving mom. Brian is an Angel watching over his loving dad, stepdad and sons. God bless mom and family and I pray that God will give you peace during this time. Brian has touch so many lives and he will truly truly be missed. XOXO Tammy Cameron Johnson.

“ I have so many great memories with Brian from our childhood. He was more like a brother than a cousin. He always had a smirk or smile on his face and loved to laugh and make fun in a loving way. His mischievous nature was what made him so charming and fun to be around. I'm so thankful for the time I had Brian.
