“ Brian, you were the peanut to my butter! Always fun, making me laugh for years. I remember in high school, both you & Aman were dressed to impress. I miss our road trips, giving you relationship advice all hours of night, eating crabs all day, everyday. I miss seeing you pull up to show me your new cars. I miss the good days
❤️ I hope you know you were loved, Rest easy B! —Love Jaime

“ Brian, Words escape me at this moment to express how much I enjoyed growing up with you each summer! I learned so much from our time together as kids. like what a blower on a motor was, how to make a rail dragster out of legos, why you should not pin the throttle on a 4-wheeler when trying to cross an elevated gravel road, what The Godfather II drag boat sounds like coming down the river.....You will be greatly missed. Take all of Pinky and my Dads money when you play cards! Love you always Desi

“ I met you in homeroom, we always had to rush to get our homework done, we were instant friends, we talked and talked and talked so much they separated us. We remained close friends for decades, through boyfriends and girlfriends we were always there for each other. Life took us in different directions but you were always in my thoughts. You were considered family my friend and we love you dearly. Love, Dori, Dagan and T Hop !!
