“ Mr. Yee called me up before his son, Jon, even had the chance to contact me. I guess he was scouting me out, to see who his son was going to be roommates with. I could imagine, like any concerned parent, sending their kid off to college. We talked about random things, like bowling lane conditions, and what the campus was like. He seemed to be a very kind man. I tried to reassure him that Jon would do just fine. I finally got to meet Cliff during move-in on Jon's first day of college. He was just as kind as I thought him to be. I may have only met him a couple of times, but I knew he was a good father from how Jon described him. My sincerest condolences to the friends and family that knew him so well.
