“ I have many fond memories of David...too many to mention but two things really stand out to me.

One Christmas we were struggling financially and David and Linda brought my children presents to our home by surprise. We were deeply touched!

Years later we surprised them with a dinner we took to their home after Linda had surgery. What a surprise it was. It turned out the dinner was awful as we later found out they went to McDonald's instead. We learned a valuable lesson that day. Not to try new recipes before trying them yourself first.

We saw David grow as a new Christian into a Man of God. It was our joy to have shared many good times together.

“ I didnt know David Sr as Dave but as Pop, my father in law. He was a truly incredible man. The number one thing that you knew about about Pop was his incredible faith in God and his passion for not only preaching and teaching the Word but for studying it for himself. He was a passionate follower of Jesus Christ. Pop also had a great sense of humor. He was always ready with a quip or a quick remark. He was a doting father and grandfather. He loved to travel. We took many weekend/day trips around MD, VA and PA. Pop enjoyed life. He enjoyed the simple things and he placed value in what was most important to him; family. As David, myself and the girls go forward in this life, those values; being a faithful servant of God, putting family first and living life to the fullest will surely be our driving force. He may be gone from this earth physically, but his legacy will live on in us.

I worked with Linda at Safeway. We became fast friends. Dave and Linda were the nicest people you would ever want to meet and have as friends. I have missed Linda since she left us and I will miss Dave just as much. My heart breaks but I know they are together again. My love to Dave Jr. and his family.
