“ You are another pretty angel that God called home way to early, but you are with the love of your life now, and I know for sure Mr. Konka missed his baby.. I will never forget you, you will always be in my heart, you took us in as family from day one, and treated my kids as if they were part of your grandbabies as well as all your blood grandbabies. I guess I will never get that great tasty candy Ham because no one can do it like you. Love and Miss you Mrs. Dee. R.I.P sweet Lady..gone but never forgotten.

Lannette King - January 06, 2018 at 09:09 AM

No need to thank me, she was and is still is a beautiful and kind hearted woman who I'm sure has inspired and helped mold all the great qualities you have. Now that I'm going thru a little bit of what you went thru with your momma and the diabetes it just makes you thank God for every day you have and just try to make the best of what we have left. I'm just happy that she won't have to suffer anymore, and I know heaven just became a better place with her there along with your dad, Aunt Pat, Bobo, Grandpa and all those we have lost along the way. I pray heaven is real so I get just one more chance to see all of them again, and if it's not real I guess at least I have the memories of them all to cherish in my heart, love you momma and I'm always here if you need me
