“ RIP Erin you were such a cool friend, me and my two sisters Erink and Brittany Johnson and Kayla London and your sister Erin rode the bus together, and your mom and dad would let us all come over and play on you and Erin's trampoline in the backyard (good memories) I didn't find out about your passing until I visited Kayla's house one day (2018) and I asked her about the ones in the neighborhood that we grew up with or rode the bus with and she told me the bad news about you, so sorry to hear this and my condolences to Eric's family and friends may Eric's sweet soul RIP

“We will miss Eric so much, but it's a comfort to know he's in a place where he's now healthy again, and can golf to his heart's content. Eric grew up to be such a wonderful and admirable young man, but my most pleasant memory of him will always be that sweet boy who was my little buddy. Michael will miss out on having "his Eric" around in the years to come, but he won't be short on the memories and pictures mommy will always share with him!

“ I was so sorry to learn of Eric's passing. As the mother of a former junior golfer I remember watching Eric play at many MAPGA events, with Mom or Dad supporting from the cart path. I know you have many fond memories of good times with Eric and I hope that those support you in this difficult time. Please accept my sympathies.

Eric, I didn't not know you while you were alive but today at the funeral parlor, watching the slide show, I feel I got to know you, just a bit. What I saw was a beautiful child that had passion in what inspired him. I saw him laughing and joking with family and friends. I saw him grow up. I saw his likes. His laughter. I saw what he achieved in his short life. I saw all the love that he shared with his family. I saw a boy turning into a man. I wondered what you would have thought of Tiger Woods penalty this past week. Your family and friends have so many wonderful memories to remind them of you each and every day. Rest in peace, Eric.
