“ When I was ready to quit, Jim never gave up on me. His support - not only in business, but personal strife - made me push harder to deliver 100% of what I had for him. I honestly don't know how I will function without that silly laugh at my stubbornness, or get mad at him for offering to pay someone to make me smile. I will miss him daily, but will hold on to the encouraging words he always had for me.

“ I have known Jim before he joined AAA, when he was a store manager for Landmark Sears Auto Center. At sears he was the most knowledgeable, very fair and high integrity manager than any manager i met before him.

When I joined AAA I met him again with even better qualities than before.

His positive impact will be felt by all employees who knew him, and AAA as a company too.

May his soul RIP.
