“ Aunt Joan. I miss your voice, your laugh, your always welcomed advice. I miss you calling me and me calling you. We talked every week. Almost every single day. You will always be my wonderful Aunt Joan. Even though I know we will see each other again someday, it doesn't make my broken heart any better. I miss you dearly. I know you are watching over me as I type this and saying, girl go to bed, but I can't sleep. You know me better than I know myself. You always let me vent about all the challenges in life. I will never say goodbye, just like when we talked on the phone for hrs, it's always Later.. I know you're watching over me and like I've always told you, I appreciate you and I will love you forever. You are so missed and so loved by so many. You raised some awesome kids. I'm getting to know them now. Wish I got the privilege of knowing them before. I promise to keep in touch with Jimmy and Carolyn. I promise to try and make them laugh and feel loved. You will always have a special place in my heart and I will never forget you. It's an honor having you as my Aunt. You were more than that though. You were my other mom. I love you and miss you Aunt Joan. R.I.P. I love you. LATER. 🤝💛💚💙💜

“ Joan and I were dog park friends for many years. We spent countless hours talking about our fur babies, issues of the day, and our families. I could always count on seeing her on fair weather days. She will be missed (already is!). Rest in peace dear friend. - Rob K.
