“ The ultimate host was John Brown, always welcoming. He always opened his home for friends and family. I am grateful he and Dixie allowed me and my family to attend the 4th of July cookouts, crab feasts, swimming in the pool and to just sit on the back porch. He was a great man and will be missed.

“ My earliest memory of my Uncle Johnny is the one I'll share. It was at a family gathering of some sort, I don't recall where (Maine?) late '40s early '50s, and I asked him "Are you a soldier?" (remembering very likely meeting another of my mother's brothers). He gave me a bat on the head and growled, "I'm a sailor!" I thought I might have done something wrong, until my mother explained the difference. He must have forgotten, or forgiven my offense; he was always mighty friendly whenever I saw him after that. "Eternal Father strong to save, Johnny. Calm seas and prosperous voyage.

“ Everyone should have an Uncle Johnny! As I contemplate your movement from this earthly experience to the next, it is with great delight I remember you. The first that comes to mind is your bright, sparkly, mischievous eyes. I am grateful for the times I was able to visit with you and Dixie and how when my roommate and I stopped on our way home from our cross-county sojourn, you and Dixie played tour guide for us in the DC area -- and gave me my first slot machine experience.

You were always so gracious and welcoming as Grid and I stopped with Adam and Alden on our way back from FL trips.

And, it must be noted that one Fourth of July in Maine, you looked so adorable as you emerged from the water wearing a stunning wig of seaweed -- and that great big John grin.

As you continue your journey, I imagine that as your stepped across, you yelled, "Fore!" and the angels cleared the course for the best hole in one anyone ever experienced.

You are blessed, Uncle Johnny, and I am blessed by having been part of the circle we call family. Thank you for loving me.
