Happy Birthday Peggy! I am not sure where you are because God has taught me to know about life and death. The information that you are passed away is sad to know.

There are good memories of your kindness that helped me through devastation and gave me the opportunity to prosper my life. I shall always remember those acts of kindness. You should of had a better life that was afflicted with mental distress. During this search for your life, I was hoping to find you still alive! During a search in 2018, I had discovered our mother had passed away February 2012 - one year after your passing. No one notified me. According to God, those that believe in the Lord Christ shall have eternal life. Perhaps, your thoughts were not in belief of God and Christ.
