“ Adele, the aisles at Safeway won't be the same without you as we blocked them for our chats. I will miss seeing and talking to you when I shop at Safeway. Seems like we always saw each other at Safeway and had our laughs and talked away in the aisle as you sat on your motorized cart and me with my grocery cart as we blocked the aisle so we could chat. We laughed because people had to go around us, so we could continue chatting. That was the last time I saw you Adele. What a blessing to have known you all those years from high school to our golden years. You were always smiling, always so nice and friendly and so very kind, just like you were in high school. Praying for Adele's family that God will grant them strength and may they hold onto the good times with Adele as they mourn her passing. R.I.P. my school friend, you will be missed.

“ Dear Family,

I was happy to meet as many of you as I could last evening. You are a wonderful family.

Mary (affectionately known as Adele) was a dear friend of mine in high school and after. We laughed a lot and were always happy. I last saw Mary at WalMart about a month or two ago. We blocked the isle with our two motorized carts for about an hour just laughing as two young teens would..... after all, time had stood still and we hadn't aged a day. What a wonderful lasting memory I will have - laughing and hugging my dear friend. God bless you her dear family.....she now laughs, hugs and sings with joy with her "Best Friend Jesus"!

*Lovingly,

“ I remember Mary as a sister of my good friend Pat. I remember talking to her for hours at the ceramic shop. I remember Mary always had a smile on her face and was so very kind. You will be missed Mary. My prayers and thoughts are with the family.

“ I remember Adele from LPHS; however, after graduation we lost track of each other. She was a lovely, sweet girl with a great smile. My thoughts and prayers go out to her family.

“ To my younger sister, Adele: I miss you and will miss you terribly for the rest of my life. You arrived in my world a short time after I arrived and soon we became buddies. We played school with dolls lining them on the stair steps and you were the teacher and we took those dolls home from school in our little red wagon. We dropped them along the driveway. We had fun! We made mud pies and sprinkled Queen Anne's Lace on top for the coconut. We jumped rope by tying the rope to the porch pillar and took turns holding the other end while one of us got to jump. We had fun! A few years later a little live doll arrived at our house; a baby sister and we had so much fun loving that little live doll. We went to Grandma's because she rubbed our backs as long as we could stay awake. We tried to play the guitar, but, I'll forget that for now. After a few more years, we helped Dad plant tobacco and we sat on that low to the ground tobacco planter and got our butts wet and knocked by the clots of dirt. But, we had fun! Mom made such delicious meals and we loved to eat. In our teens, we fought with our little sister on which TV show to watch hoping it would be Bandstand and not Howdy Doody. Sometimes we had to sit on her to get our way. We loved country music and Elvis and Jim Ed Brown and so many others and we sang our hearts out standing on the picnic table in the backyard. I believe the scariest time for us is when we were playing house and found a red pepper can (probably from crab cooking) and it got in our baby sister's eyes and we were so scared, but, thankfully, it turned out okay. I married and you graduated and came to stay with me for a while to be close to your job. Soon the marriages and the children arrived for all three of us and we stayed busy living our lives. We caught up when we met at Mom and Dad's for dinner and holidays. We had fun! After lots of busy years , we retired and we had more time to talk. We went on a RV trip to Graceland and Nashville, and Texas and to see an aunt in MS. We had fun! We laughed sometimes and we cried sometimes and when the medical problems came we helped each other cope. We talked about the good life we had and our wonderful parents. I know all of this because we have talked about it. Now you have gone to the beautiful place that God has planned for you and I believe that you will have a new life much more fun than we can imagine. I miss you terribly now and I always will. Love always, your big sister, Fran
