“ We met back in Leonard Hall Junior Naval Academy and you stuck up for me whether I needed it or not and then when we got out of school we started talking and being around each other and then I found out about your accident and it tore me up inside and I found out that you lived through it so you're very strong and now now you're gone and you will be very missed I think about you everyday and I'll be seeing you there I love you and I miss you until we meet again

“ I can still remember the day i gave birth to you so small but so determined you were the secondbest thing to happen to me in my life. It seems me and you have been fighting to keep one another in each other's life your whole life I didn't get to spending time with you that I wanted or deserve to have you left to soon God has called youhomeyour pain and loneliness and struggles are gone I ll carry you in.

My heart til we meet again
