“ I met Philip at resurrection Cemetery while visiting my parents. I'd say hello and give him flowers to put on his wife's grave. Found him to be a pleasant fellow. I've noticed his absence when I'd visit the cemetery. May he rest in peace with Doris.

I am just now seeing your comment. He really had a hard time after my grandma passed. He would come home and tell me about the people he met at the cemetery. Thank you so much for being so kind to him.

I talked to Phillip after seeing him many times at the cemetery. We talked about our wives, about the visitors to the cemetery like the mother crying at the grave of her young child, and about the peacock. Rest In Peace, sir, as I know you are happy to be back with your wife.

I met Mr. Phillip at the Resurrection Cemetery in 2019 while I was visiting the grave of my sister . Phillip 3-4 days a week. He sat in front of his wife, Doris's gravesite. I would come to talk with him, bring him snacks and talk awhile about our griefs, our families or just simple friendly exchanges. I missed him after the pandemic came as I did not see him since. My friend Ed Harris finally found the eulogy on him. My dear Mr. Phillip, rest in eternal peace!!!

Condolences to the family ❤️🙏❤️🙏
