“ I remember Sandy coming to a computer training class at Catholic Charities (driving all the way to NE DC for 3 weekly meetings). Despite her hesitancy with the computer, she was bound and determined that she was going to master this skill so that she could enter the data on her clients more effectively and efficiently. She was good natured and had a great sense of humor about her learning process. It was clear that wherever Sandy was. laughter followed. She was one of a kind.

“ Sandra I will miss our morning phone calls, birthday breakfasts for each sibling, coming together to pray for each other, coming to my annual New Year's Eve party. Most of all I will miss your kind and giving heart. Thank you for all the ways your have encouraged and helped me in my times of need of which there have been many. I know you are in Heaven looking into the eyes of Jesus and celebrating with all of the family and friends who were waiting their for you. I will all join your one day, as we all will. Until then, I love you and thank God you were my baby sister.
