“ One childhood memory I vividly remember of my great grandmother; is that my mom and I were at her house with her and Pop alone. Which in my recollection was not a common occurrence. I was sitting on the kitchen floor drawing a sketch of her yorkshire terrior because I thought the dog was cute. It was also a time before kids had cell phones so it was my only form of entertainment at the time. She was sitting at the kitchen table and she told me that I reminded her of my mother when she was growing up. That my desire to draw was like hers. I have always considered that a memorable moment because I found my mothers art very beautiful and still do to this day. She has always seen the best in people and looked at them with such kindness. While I might not be the artist in the family. I still enjoy it as a hobby and its one of the few memories I have with her. I know she is well loved and well missed. She lived a long and beautiful life and I'm happy for the moments I do remember of her.
