“ Please stop, everyone, he was my son and I miss him greatly, but he did have 4 children who loved him as well. Things happened over the years some good some not so good and I'm sure if he were here he would be the first to say he regretted a lot of things, but he's gone and it's time for all of the hatred to end. It's over, he's gone and that means closure. All of us have our own individual memories, I choose to remember the good things. When a person dies, their spirit is no longer in the body or ashes. So it doesn't matter at this point who has what. I gave birth to him almost 44 years ago and he was my son and I loved him more than life itself, unconditionally. And only a Mother truly understands what that means. I have comfort knowing he is with his Brother and Father, it doesn't matter if there is a body or ashes somewhere, I know where his spirit is.

“ I guess a lot of stuff that people wrote about my cousin , guilt must of started shining though to his children & ex wife to have things removed .. Like I said before We all know the truth & we have no guilt at all .. He knew who loved him ! The truth hurts & what goes around comes around rem that .. I love you Stevie !! ❤️ My aunt doesn't deserve any of this & especially no ashes of her son that she gave birth too .. who does that ?
