“ Head, words can't describe how much I miss you cousin. We were more like brothers. I sit and reflect on all the stuff we would do doing the summer at grandma house. I would come home to visit from being in the army and you would always be the first person I would look for. I miss you man and I love you more than words can show. Any time I would go home it's never the same. Continue to R.I.P. brother and know that I think about you daily Love Brighteyes
