“ "Uncle" Bill was my mother's first husband and even though they weren't meant to be married, they remained friends up until Momma's death. It didn't matter that they were divorced, they were still family and he was considered a member of the family by my grandparents and even my father. Uncle Bill consulted with Dad, who was a physician after Stephanie was born about getting her protective headgear.

He was as good a man as there ever was and I mourn his passing and grieve for his family. The world's a little dimmer without his light.
